The diagram shows a 2D hexagonal lattice. A central column of four blue squares is highlighted. The top row of the lattice is a single horizontal row of 20 hexagons. The second row consists of 19 hexagons, with the central three hexagons (positions 9, 10, and 11 from the left) being blue squares. The third row consists of 18 hexagons, with the central three hexagons (positions 8, 9, and 10 from the left) being blue squares. The fourth row consists of 17 hexagons, with the central three hexagons (positions 7, 8, and 9 from the left) being blue squares. The fifth row consists of 16 hexagons, with the central three hexagons (positions 6, 7, and 8 from the left) being blue squares. The sixth row consists of 15 hexagons, with the central three hexagons (positions 5, 6, and 7 from the left) being blue squares. The seventh row consists of 14 hexagons, with the central three hexagons (positions 4, 5, and 6 from the left) being blue squares. The eighth row consists of 13 hexagons, with the central three hexagons (positions 3, 4, and 5 from the left) being blue squares. The ninth row consists of 12 hexagons, with the central three hexagons (positions 2, 3, and 4 from the left) being blue squares. The tenth row consists of 11 hexagons, with the central three hexagons (positions 1, 2, and 3 from the left) being blue squares. The eleventh row consists of 10 hexagons, with the central three hexagons (positions 1, 2, and 3 from the left) being blue squares. The twelfth row consists of 9 hexagons, with the central three hexagons (positions 1, 2, and 3 from the left) being blue squares. The thirteenth row consists of 8 hexagons, with the central three hexagons (positions 1, 2, and 3 from the left) being blue squares. The fourteenth row consists of 7 hexagons, with the central three hexagons (positions 1, 2, and 3 from the left) being blue squares. The fifteenth row consists of 6 hexagons, with the central three hexagons (positions 1, 2, and 3 from the left) being blue squares. The sixteenth row consists of 5 hexagons, with the central three hexagons (positions 1, 2, and 3 from the left) being blue squares. The seventeenth row consists of 4 hexagons, with the central three hexagons (positions 1, 2, and 3 from the left) being blue squares. The eighteenth row consists of 3 hexagons, with the central three hexagons (positions 1, 2, and 3 from the left) being blue squares. The nineteenth row consists of 2 hexagons, with the central three hexagons (positions 1, 2, and 3 from the left) being blue squares.
